Catalog Description: Introduction to structure and function of body's major organ systems. Notes: Does not satisfy the natural science requirement ~~for the BA~~ in COS or CHSS. Course requires the use of organisms. Not available for Biology major credit.

Justification: Original description said this only didn't work for a BA but that is not true. This is not a natural science requirement for both BA and BS. Description now matches BIOL124 which is the prerequisite for this course. Included information about use of organisms so students are informed.

Does this course cover material which crosses into another department? No
