Catalog Description: Study of a topic not otherwise available to student. May involve reading assignments, tutorials, lectures, papers, presentations, or field ~~or laboratory~~ study, determined in consultation with instructor. May be taken for 1 to ~~2-3~~ credits and repeated once for a total of ~~2-3~~ credits. Total limit for combination of 495 and 497 is 6 credits toward 44 credits for BS and ~~3-4~~ credits toward 32 credits for BA. This course does not satisfy requirements of the BA degree or BS ~~degree. degree, which state that students must complete at least one (BA degree) or two (BS degree) upper division courses that include a laboratory.~~

Justification: This is generally a reading and writing course and therefore should not be available for anymore than 2 credits. Cleaned up the wording to be more consistent with the other courses similar to it.

Does this course cover material which crosses into another department? No
